Why Buy Heirloom Seeds?

For the Home Gardener, they were saved because someone loved them and wanted them and saved the seeds from their favorite vegetables. They are adapted to home gardens, usually from people gardening organically. They have seen pests and diseases and have developed natural resistance to them.

They Taste Better

Why would someone save seeds from something that doesn't taste good? Home gardeners aren't worried about how long it keeps on a grocery store shelf, or how pretty the outside looks a week after being picked. We want it to taste good, and heirlooms just taste a lot better than modern hybrids.

Help Preserve Biodiversity

With modern farming, the genetics is based around a few varieties. It's the home gardener that keeps alive all the different varieties. These varieties may some day be needed to solve problems that the modern farms face. Connection to History. Become a part of the history of the seeds. Grow a garden that tells a story of good food and healthy lives for us and our gardens.

Certified Organic Seeds

Organic seeds are grown to strict standards, certified by agencies, and handled under similar strict standards. Purchasing Certified Organic Seeds lets you know that you are doing your part to keep our environment clean and healthy. Support the farmers and companies growing without commercial pesticides and fertilizers. Here at Annie's we have a full line of Certified Organic Seeds. We have worked hard to source heirloom varieties of Organic seeds in every vegetable, so you don't have to compromise.

Untreated Seeds

We only sell untreated seeds. You don't have to worry about chemicals on your seeds, about you, your children or your pets accidentally ingesting something harmful from your seeds. But untreated seeds are more delicate. Those chemicals keep the seeds from rotting when the soil conditions aren't optimal. It means that you need to plant your seeds at the right time, waiting until the soil is warm enough for the seeds to germinate. All you need is to wait until the weather warms and the soil temperatures are above 60 F to plant your beans, corn and squash.

Corn

Aunt Mary's Sweet Corn

68 days.

This Ohio heirloom has become one of my favorite corns. This white corn is really early and produces some of the sweetest heirloom corn I've tasted. A real treat straight from the garden, I don't even cook it!

Heirloom (min. 50 seeds) $4.00

Country Gentleman Sweet Corn

92 days.

Country Gentleman is a white shoepeg corn, meaning that the kernels are not in straight rows like standard corns. Small, tender white kernels that are crisp when harvested at their peak. A good choice for fresh eating or freezing.

Heirloom (min. 100 seeds) $3.50

Golden Bantam Sweet Corn

70-85 days.

A nice, fast, heirloom yellow sweet corn, the one from which most of the original hybrid yellow sweet corns were developed. When picked at its peak, it has a sweet, rich corn flavor that rivals or beats any hybrid.

Heirloom (min. 100 seeds) $3.75

Heirloom Organic (min. 50 seeds) $4.50

Heirloom Bulk (min. 500 seeds) $9.75

Heirloom 5 pounds $65.00

Luther Hill Sweet Corn

82 days.

Developed by Luther Hill in 1902, it is one of the predecessors of Silver Queen. A white sweet corn, and one of the sweetest heirloom sweet corns, it grows short ears on 4 ft. tall stalks. If you space it widely the central stalk will produce 2 ears, and side shoots will develop that produce ears as well, getting up to 4 ears from each plant.

Heirloom (min. 50 seeds) $3.50

Stowell's Evergreen Sweet Corn

80-100 days.

My favorite of the heirloom sweet corns. It is white, with big, tender kernels. It has a full, rich, corn flavor that is delicious even when picked late, after it's peak of sweetness. When it is picked at its peak it is as sweet and crisp as any hybrid.

Heirloom (min. 100 seeds) $3.75

Heirloom Organic (min. 50 seeds) $4.25

Greens

Claytonia

40 days.

Also known as miner's lettuce or winter purslane, it is the hardiest of the winter salad greens. Claytonia has heartshaped leaves around a white-colored stem. It can tolerate moderate frost and can be grown all winter in mild regions or cold greenhouses. I like planting the seeds in the late fall for harvest the following spring.

Heirloom (min. 250 seeds) $3.50

Dutch Corn Salad (Mache)

55 days.

A great variety for winter production either under cover or outside. Sow between September and April for greens from December to May or sow in late fall for harvest the following spring. It has thick, broad leaves that form in upright bunches. It has a mild minty flavor.

Heirloom (min. 200 seeds) $2.50

Red Garnet Amaranth

50 days.

Amaranth is a very versatile green and grain. Red Garnet has beautiful deep red leaves. The shoots can be added to a salad, the greens cooked like a spinach, its flowers are beautiful, and the grains can be harvested and used similarly to rice and corn.

Heirloom (min. 200 seeds) $2.50

Rocket Salad Arugula

37 days.

A gourmet Italian arugula, this is an excellent choice for salads and fresh greens. It has a strong, rich, peppery taste when grown in hot conditions, and a much milder flavor when grown in cool conditions.

Heirloom (min. 300 seeds) $2.50

Heirloom Organic (min. 150 seeds) $3.75

Heirloom Bulk (min. 1500 seeds) $6.00

Georgia Southern Collard Greens

78 days.

Also known as Creole or Georgia Green Collards, it was first introduced in the late 1800s. It has a loose cluster of blue-green leaves with a cabbage-like flavor. It is tolerant to heat and poor soils and is a good choice for summer production.

Heirloom (min. 200 seeds) $2.25

Morris Heading Collard Greens

85 days.

An old southern favorite. It grows loose heads that are dark green and slow to bolt. The young leaves are the most tender and flavorful, so harvest often. Great for fall growing, because it becomes sweeter with frost.

Heirloom (min. 200 seeds) $2.25

Tomatoes

Beliy Naliv Tomato

54 days.

My favorite early tomato, it has excellent yields of 2 inch round, red tomatoes. Unlike most early tomatoes, it isn't bland but is packed with lots of rich tomato flavor. Semideterminant.

Heirloom (min. 25 seeds) $3.00

Bloody Butcher Tomato

55 days.

A highly prolific, very early tomato with 1-2 inch round fruit. They are mostly blemish free and perfectly round. Bloody Butcher is a good choice if you want an early tomato or live in an area with a short growing season.

Heirloom (min. 25 seeds) $3.50

Grushovka Tomato

65 days.

In our tomato trials, this was one of the winners for its interesting and delicious flavor. With pink to red moderately sized tomatoes, this early tomato is also packed with amazing flavor. It grows on bushy plants and is a great choice for container gardening.

Heirloom (min. 25 seeds) $3.50

Moskvich Tomato

60 days.

The largest of the early red tomatoes, it produces good yields of red tomatoes with a mild tomato flavor. If you have a short season or just want early slicing tomatoes, Moskvich is an excellent choice.

Heirloom Organic (min. 25 seeds) $3.50

Mountain Princess Tomato

60 days.

Grown for generations in West Virginia, this early tomato is a great choice for slicing or canning. It has excellent yields of round 8 oz red tomatoes with a mild tomato flavor. Determinate.

Heirloom Organic (min. 25 seeds) $3.75

Northern Lights Tomato

55 days.

Wow! It's everything you could ask for, a large, 4 inch tomato so early it rivals the fastest tomatoes out there, with amazing tomato flavor. I couldn't believe it! Northern Lights produces delicious, fruity flavored red and yellow bicolor tomatoes, and will produce from early in the season through frost.

Heirloom (min. 10 seeds) $3.50

Stupice Tomato

52 days.

Originally from Czechoslovakia, Stupice (pronounced Stoo-Peechka) is one of the earliest tomatoes. It produces average yields of 2-3 inch, mild flavored, red tomatoes.

Heirloom (min. 25 seeds) $2.75

Moskvich Tomato

Carrots

Kuroda Carrot

75 days.

This Asian carrot is long, uniform, and sweet with a sharp carrot flavor. It tolerates heat better than most carrots, and we found that it is one of the few varieties that has a good carrot flavor when picked very small as a baby carrot.

Heirloom (min. 300 seeds) $2.75

Little Finger Carrot

60 days.

This is our favorite carrot. It can be harvested young for baby carrots, or left to grow out for larger carrots. At full size, it is 1 inch wide and 5-6 inches long with a blunt tip. They are crisp, sweet, and make for excellent fresh eating carrots, but they also cook up wonderfully. An all-around excellent carrot.

Heirloom (min. 300 seeds) $2.50

Heirloom Organic (min. 150 seeds) $4.25

Heirloom Bulk (min. 2000 seeds) $5.50

Amsterdam Forcing Carrot

50-70 days.

As the name implies, this early carrot is commonly grown as a forcing carrot for baby carrots. When you allow it to grow to full size it has really long thin roots that don't taper. It has a great carrot flavor.

Heirloom (min. 300 seeds) $2.75

Autumn King Carrot

68 days.

Autumn King is a great choice for fall gardens. Originally grown for livestock feed, I say those are some lucky cows. It has a wonderful flavor, with hints of citrus orange, and is excellent as a fresh eating carrot.

Heirloom (min. 300 seeds) $2.75

Danver's Half Long Carrot

70 days.

A standard American crisp orange carrot with a strong carrot flavor, it maintains a lot of its flavor even when cooked. With shorter roots, growing only 5-6 inches long with a pointed tip, it is a good choice for denser soils.

Heirloom (min. 300 seeds) $2.50

Heirloom Organic (min. 300 seeds) $3.75

Dragon Carrot

85 days.

What a beautiful carrot, deep purple on the outside and orange on the inside. It has a wonderful, spicy flavor that cooks up beautifully.

Heirloom Organic (min. 150 seeds) $3.25

Oxheart Carrot

90 days.

Originally from France and introduced to the US by Atlee Burpee in 1884, this very large carrot grows to over one pound! They have short, very wide roots and have a great carrot flavor with a good texture even when very large. They store well, and are a great choice for dense soil.

Heirloom (min. 300 seeds) $2.75

Kyoto Red Carrot

70-90 days.

A traditional carrot from the Kyoto region of Japan. It is a really old carrot, with more wild characteristics. It has a strong, delicious, sweet, carrot flavor. The color is striking, with red and almost pink tones. You can pick them young, before they develop a hard center core, or leave them to grow HUGE carrots.

Heirloom (min. 300 seeds) $3.00
